Man the coincidence of his time of tweet and the date of it, idk. I honestly feel like I'm going crazy with this whole thing but Elon is known for tweeting dates in the time lol and the fact he quoted the person who used the quote for an atomic bomb, it's just too crazy

Tune Squad = Space Jam 1 —> Michael Jordan, who allegedly(!) lost millions on (closing?) his GME short position in January

(Space Jam 2: LeBron James

<https://www.esquire.com/entertainment/movies/a33632786/lebron-james-tune-squad-jersey-space-jam-a-new-legacy/> – but I think the MJ reference is pretty clear)

"tomorrow's close below $178".....Spooky coincidence that we closed at $173.59....how is that possible to know ?

↑ 7 ↓ Reply Give Award Share Report Save

DancesWith2Socks · 1m

Cos there is a $180 sell wall?... Manipulation, they don't want it over that price.

↑ 2 ↓ Reply Share Tip ...

Tulipsniperpewpew · 1m

Was the sell wall there the day before when he made the comment ? Idk how far in advance those types of things can be seen ?

Check the daily charts, that's been a resistance for days...

Tulipsniperpewpew · 1m

OK I get what you're saying. But if he was basing it on that, why didn't he just say "below 180 "? That would've been an obvious prediction. I guess I'm saying 178 is a weirdly specific number to go below. It doesn't seem like one you randomly pick.

Edit: and I guess I feel like there's been too many resistances that have been smashed through on a whim of a whale to really think they hold much predictive capability if someone wants to break through them.

In the last 17 trading days there have been 16 with the price closing under 178... You wanna believe he has some misterious info to predict it will finish under 178? Totally up to you my friend :) There are things more dificult to predict.

Whats the price eod tomorrow then, go on

↑ 0 ↓ Reply Share ... Tip

DancesWith2Socks · 1m

You better ask the fortune-teller my friend, he's who knows, I don't :) But as you can see Monday and Tuesday also closed under 178, so in the last 19 trading days 18 closed under 178 xD..... And tbh I don't care, gonna hodl anyway, good luck :)

First launched in Brazil. Then Mexico. Then China.

The company's stated intention was to create an affordable console with inexpensive games delivered via wireless digital distribution to circumvent piracy. There are no DVDs and cartridges; games and other content are downloaded wirelessly over broadband cellular networks. In addition to games, the Zeebo system also provides Internet connectivity, enabling users to access educational and information content, communicate via e-mail and do social networking (this capability is currently supported in Mexico only).

Kinda sounds like where we are today but ahead of it's time. Maybe their business model was a threat to competitors.

History: <https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=jfXoAqYZlys&ucbcb=1>

Partnership with Qualcomm

Runs on brew: https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Binary_Runtime_Environment_for_Wireless

Brew developed by Qualcomm

Zeebo's designs were all very similar to leading competitors' but lagged behind to keep price down. When Zeebo was launched in China it was used as a cable box for television (?).

Gaming company, phone company. It's difficult to find detailed info about them but I could see why pretty much every one of their competitors would have their eyes on them. Sony, Microsoft, Apple, Blackberry. Zeebo was probably pretty solid competition in these emerging markets.

Random: In order to circumvent Brazil's high import tax Microsoft began manufacturing in Brazil.
