Rocket countdown poster 10 business days from the date of posting is the 23rd

Cross posting here:

Edit: I genuinely believe this ratio dude is an insider. In one of his posts he predicted the exact price we traded at sideways for a week

Edit2: the stack of 2s = Someone has figured out that the band on the 2s says "$50 sideways" it's not a QR code. Which is 25 2s or 2/25 which was one of the last rockets in price. FTD resets rolling from this day?

Edit3: extra-tinfoil edition; we see a lot of information around surrounding the "goat", "gamer" and what looks like a rocket on a launchpad bottom right.

I think Elon Musk is somehow going to be involved in all this. He's a gamer, and so happens to be launching a rocket this week lol. Watch for the Tesla x GameStop integration lol

The nugs not drugs poster maybe a play on the infamous Joe Rogan episode of Elon smoking up and his historic use of drugs.

Oh and HES LAUNCHING THE ROCKET ON FRIDAY MORNING. REMEMBER HIS THEORIES ON THE MOST ENTERTAINING OUTCOME IS THE ONE THAT WILL TAKE PLACE? 🤔

From another redditor regarding the band of 50$ worth of 2s

" 2/25 - we closed at $91 the day before, opened at $169, went up to $184, and ultimately closed at a 35% drop.

He could very well be pointing to that day as relevant, if 2/24 was the day they had to acquire shares to clear FTDs, and 2/25 started the next cycle"

EDIT4: the tile box with the valuable papers behind it make have something to do with tracking of papers like stock certificates. The fact that it's next to the gavel is that someone is going to get in trouble for not knowing where they are.

Edit5: the blank screen. I think this has to do with shell companies being formed as "SPACs". Or otherwise interpreted as blank cheques

Edit6: I think the "high-chew" and gum on the bottom left along with the industry wide issue magazine alludes to rechewing the same shares over and over again aka rehyopthecation. What I can't figure out is why the Astronauts with the keys

Edit7: this image is ingrained in my head lol. I think after thinking about this for a while, I feel as though each clue we see on the desk isn't just a clue on it's own; but rather each section on the desk maybe tells a story.

Edit8: the coins and the little arcade cabinet next to it. Maybe insinuating that coins are being gamed. We now see tons of law suits for it. WAIT WITH THE HANDS, THAT COINS HOLD OUR BANANAS RIGHT NOW???? Idk maybe stretching here

Edit9: does anyone know what book or page the book behind the gamer sign is? I can only vaguely make out the date as June? Idk

Wow I really like how your ideas are fitting here, especially with everything that's been coming to light since this was originally posted. I'm going to do some more digging along these lines.

Although I believe Elon's rocket was scheduled to be launched today 4/22, but was moved to tomorrow 4/23 due to unfavorable weather conditions today.

I want to add something to the hi-chew "line". The three keys are BMW keys (BBB) maybe astronauts are AAA? There was a point in the Big Short when they went from shorting the BBB tranches of CDO to shorting the AAA and that's about when it all started to fall. Also, and I don't think I've seen it mentioned before- on the 'Now and Laters', to the right of the keys, is a joint. Maybe "smoke on this now and later"?

Anyone seeing Shill Sniffing Dog on twitter posting about Ratio? The dog first posted a link to the original 61727054 post and now the dog has posted part of this photo, but not the full thing.

Links:

https://twitter.com/dog\_shill/status/1385302858086551556

The dog says they're sharing at the request of someone who wishes to remain anonymous. Maybe it's Ratio? Or maybe not. But interesting that the dog is promoting it....What does it mean??? I'm glad though, we need more eyes here.

360.1

Professional accountants are required to comply with the fundamental principles and apply the conceptual framework set out in Section 120 to identify, evaluate and address threats.

360.2

A self-interest or intimidation threat to compliance with the principles of integrity and professional behavior is created when a professional accountant becomes aware of non-compliance or suspected non-compliance with laws and regulations.

360.3

A professional accountant might encounter or be made aware of non-compliance or suspected non-compliance in the course of providing a professional service to a client. This section guides the accountant in assessing the implications of the matter and the possible courses of action when responding to non-compliance or suspected non-compliance with:

Laws and regulations generally recognized to have a direct effect on the determination of material amounts and disclosures in the client's financial statements; and

Other laws and regulations that do not have a direct effect on the determination of the amounts and disclosures in the client's financial statements, but compliance with which might be fundamental to the operating aspects of the client's business, to its ability to continue its business, or to avoid material penalties.

"Griffin has called QE3, the third wave of the quantitative easing bond buying program that the Fed implemented while Bernanke was chairman, "a terrible idea." Citadel came out quite well after the FC? Bernanke then went on to work as an advisor to citadel. 🤔🤔

Also Google tells you Griffin has done a lot of buying and selling of 5 below. Bought all the way down the pandemic dip then got out on the way up. Had a divorce in 2015 and his ex wife had her own fund. Interesting dynamic after reading through some articles. I don't know where this all fits in on the timeline but I'm definitely reading this all left to right and DFV is smack dab in the middle of it.

[–] EternalDissonance (deleted by user) 5 points 1 months ago

Griffen is very good at pretending. He will pretend he is against something that helps him but then undermines it and pretends he is for something that would hurt him but then undermines it.

It's the typical sociopathic way. E.g., "I'm all for hedge funds being forced to play by the rules" but then undermines it. Since he pretends he's for it then it makes people think he can't be the bad guy when in fact he is - wolf in sheeps clothing. You'll notice a lot of these rich psychopaths behave this way and if you think about it you will realize they really have to behave this way because if they were honest then it would be very clear they are the bad guys.

permalink reddit ceddit

[–] NFL\_Bros 5 points 1 months ago

Definitely get that vibe when reading these articles. It always seems he's saying the right things.

[–] EternalDissonance (deleted by user) 1 point 1 months ago

If you go read some of their responses to the SEC asking them for their help(yeah, seriously) it is clear that he undermines everything. He says stuff like "That is an good proposal and could be very effective" ... "But we feel it needs to be restructured and so would be best to be shelved until further insight so it can be effective in helping stop market manipulation" or whatever. You have to read it to see. He essentially pretends he's for the shit but then undermines it in the long run.

(Reposted for visibility)

I'll try to answer the 2 dollar bill mystery.

Who is on the 2 dollar bill? Thomas Jefferson, that's who.

So why good old Prezzie Jeff instead of fat stacks of Ben Franklin $100's and certainly not $10 Hamiltons?

Well, Thomas Jefferson opposed the establishment of a national bank.

Why?

Here's why:

>Jefferson's Objections to the Bank

>Thomas Jefferson objected strongly to Hamilton's proposal for a national bank. Among the reasons he and his followers gave for their opposition, the following were the most important:

1. With its special powers and privileges, the U.S. bank would hinder the development of state banks.
2. The bank would be of far more help to wealthy businessmen in cities than to farmers in the country.
3. The bank would be run by wealthy stockholders and would help this privileged class become more rich and powerful.
4. The Constitution did not give the national government the power to establish a bank.

>https://www.digitalhistory.uh.edu/teachers/lesson\_plans/pdfs/unit3\_4.pdf

Note items 2 and 3 in the list. Sounds like the man was prescient (Don't know it? Look it up) eh? So much for the founding fathers not being relevant....

But then I'm just a smooth brained ape.

Ok. We are looking at a picture.

You sound like the media bitching about retail investors.

Brooo... This is like some Q shit. I would recommend taking a step back and re-evaluating what our goal is here. Really, it all boils down to this: All shorts need to cover. Regardless of market events.

Nobody can really predict what is going to happen and when, so stop karma farming.

Buy, and hold.

You are hurting the $GME base by spreading these theories. A lot of us are actual investors, and do this for a living. We study the fundamentals of a business and the market to invest our capital accordingly.

Not trying to shit talk, but you will cause others to back out from holding very quickly if it starts devolving to a conspiracy theory, rather than studying the functionality of the US Economy.

if this photo /user shook your confidence in the stock, you may have bigger issues ahead of you lol

It didn't shake my confidence in my investment, however, I'm sure that this sort of public sentiment has not helped our effort. That's all I'm saying. People weighing their theories on one man (or woman)'s cryptic picture is not healthy.

Been holding since November, so this isn't making me sweat.
