Could the call to put restrictions on purchasing GameStop in January have come from the White House ?

That would be wild. But I can't see that. Two different administrations. That would be straight out of a script from one of those shows on (your favorite streaming service).

Nah. It's not a whole government conspiracy. But you have given me an idea for a good novel when this is all said and done.

Hahahahaha sounds good, just send some royalties my way! There was a Reddit post immediately after Robinhood stopped the buying and the op explained that he's a worker at Robinhood and the call came from the White House. News Article explaining what happened including the Reddit post

I'm on it. There is another Robinhood/Citadel/Austin angle that I seem to have stumbled upon that I need to fact check.

Thanks Ape!

There have been a lot of posts and discussions about not dividing the action and focusing only on GME, but is it right there in front of us that the call was made on all of these stocks??

Would be a good way to make it seem like GME wasn't the focus.

That was my thought immediately! What better way to hide what they're doing than to say "hey we're stopping all the meme stocks because it's market manipulation"

Hey i saw you read thought some of what he wrote made sense. In u/ratioatblessons answer to u/gmetothemoon it was noted that the spelling of Griffin was Ken griffth. Could it be intentionelso i thought to google some answers.

I found this https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ken_Griffiths

This was not something I thought was relevant and then I remember the newly formed super league.... could it be related?

Further ken griffth died few days apart from his teammate and both weeks from the financial crisis in 2008...

Ken is running the same scheme as Madoff, just in a modernized way(quants).He learned from the mistakes that Bernie made and he thinks he's invincible. Citadel is probably under investigation as we speak which explains why no communication to the outside world through social media , same with Melvin!
