Things to do before Moon

Locate your return landing zone.

DO NOT DISCLOSE

Know what ship you're jumping into next.

DO NOT DISCLOSE

Stock trading and Investing will be two entirely different ventures once this event is over. Prepare for that landscape.

This after effect of this is not a return to things as usual, as they were...because they aren't. Take in everything that can be learned if you're going to stick with this as the way going forward. If you're not..you're not.

For me..dis what I do I'll still be here when all is done with GME by whatever means.

Someone on some comment of mine called me paranoid. Nah..I just lose my glasses so much that I've had to learn how to recognize when shapes are out of place which makes things all the clearer when I have my shades drawn.

Buy + Hold is that new-new rinse & repeat.

...stay strong apes the board will be full of ticks this weekend.

Going to start your day trading career? My fellow ape has a coconut hit you on the head? Have you failed to already celebrate crossing the threshold? You've gone from dreaming of one day doing to doing the moment you bought your first share. Welcome to the show baby! What's up rookie? Let's get it! I did it. It was scary as fuck wasn't it? The first one? whew but you did it tho..you did it bro. If nobody else has told you...I'm telling you and I don't know you..I'm proud of you. I hope the best for you. I wish the best for you. No matter what stock or what trade. Good luck. It is true..only the strong survive..only the real recognize real. Keep learning, keeping doing. On the worst of days and trades..have a song. Develop your mode, don't let your mold determine your overall strategy. Above all love every minute of this. Know that the only way to fail is to quit. Know that doing something for the rest of your life means that you have time on your side.

Even a penny is a profit. Alright.

Holding anything is always better than holding nothing. Low risk is still risk. Risk is risk.

Fun fact: Planets don't share the same moon.

Once I get the 25k seed money, I'm in. 'Investing' is a huge risk, you pile money in and hope that it's gone up 4% over the next year...

Day Trading is a shit-ton of risks. Do the hard work, watch like a hawk and you can flip 1-2% gains 5-6 times a day. It won't be easy, but it'll keep me busy!

Actually...trading is all bills paid, more money to trade from other trades made.

I have no idea what investing is..I just know there is no limit to holding.

I'm, I'm going to do DD and fine another short-term stock to invest in and start my day trading career. Just got cleared with Fidelity to do options and I'll ease into a lucrative series of lower-risk plays.

Just need this monkey off my back and too the moon!
